- Veterans Protest Outside LR Memorial Hospital. Hyperlink to Article ArkansasMatters.com (KARK-TV): Employees of the VA office also attended a rally Saturday. Some are continuing to process claims for free... They decided protesting outside the John L. McClellan Memorial Veterans Hospital where many of their brothers in war seek treatment was the best place to be heard.
- 3. Veterans groups move to end shutdown. Hyperlink to Article Politico: In a strong display of unity, leaders of the nation's major veterans' groups plan to speak out against the continuing government shutdown at an event on Tuesday at the World War II Memorial, POLITICO has learned.
- 4. Veterans groups to push to end government shutdown. Hyperlink to Article CNN Political Ticker: A military coalition including 33 of the nation's leading veterans and uniformed services organizations on Tuesday will stage a major event in Washington to push for an end to the government shutdown.
- 5. Veterans feel shutdown's sting. Hyperlink to Article I Jazeera America: Many veterans rely on the wide range of benefits administered by the U.S. Department of Veteran Affairs, which is grinding to a halt as a result of the shutdown, removing a critical safety net.
- 6. Shutdown leaves VA missing at All the Way Home Conference. kwwl.com "It wasn't that the United States Department of Veterans Affairs didn't want to come, but with the government shutdown they could not come," Wagner said.
- 7. Maine PTSD sufferers qualify for medical marijuana. San Antonio Express The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs changed its policy on medical marijuana in 2011 to ensure veterans using medical marijuana in states where it's legal ...
- 8. The reality of the VA emergency room. Hyperlink to Article Baltimore Sun: Compelled to set the record straight, I'm writing in response to the article regarding the VA Office of the Inspector General review of the Emergency Department at the Baltimore VA Medical Center that cited lengthy wait times for patients... The writer is director of the VA Maryland Health Care System.
- 9. Taking aim at the VA: Missoula couple fighting diagnosis has hearing in D.C.. Hyperlink to Article Great Falls Tribune: A University of Montana graduate student and his wife are taking on the Veterans Administration... Their mission is to force the VA to diagnose, treat and properly compensate vets for traumatic brain injuries.

- 10. Pittsburgh VA ranks in top 10 for privacy complaints. Hyperlink to Article Pittsburgh Tribune-Review: The incident triggered the VA's secondlargest breach of protected data nationwide in three years, potentially compromising data for about one in 10 patients... Though the VA by law must disclose privacy breaches affecting more than 500 patients to the Department of Health and Human Services, officials there told the Trib that the VA failed to alert them.
- 11. Butler County veterans court graduates 3, with growth expected in future. Hyperlink to Article Pittsburgh Tribune-Review: Butler County's veterans court has completed its first year, and officials are expecting the need for it to grow... "We've been told to expect more and more vets coming back from Afghanistan," said Brad Schaffer, VA Butler Healthcare's Veterans justice outreach coordinator.
